

Early Level 2 Non-fiction – Llamas

Wally the llama is very friendly. His coat is soft and thick, and he loves hugs. Wally lives with seven other llamas on a farm. People come to the farm to go on treks (long walks) with the llamas. When Fiona and her children, Jasmine and Charlie, went on a trek, they found out a lot about llamas. In this article, Fiona shares what they learnt.

When we arrived for our trek, we met Roz, our guide. Wally and two other llamas were waiting for us. They were going to carry our bags. Roz put saddles on the llamas, and then we hooked large bags (called panniers) onto the saddles. While we were getting ready, Roz started telling us about llamas.

Written by Fiona Terry, featured in Junior Journal 51, 2015